FYSEMR 73T combines the reading load of Professor Brinns' History of Magic with the lab exercises you might find in Professor Snape's Potions class. As with all formal education, I know that preparation is the key to success.

For the upcoming two weeks, I will begin the reading early. No matter what medium I use to read the material, I will keep Perusall open and near me so that I can add comments as the inspiration hits me. Perusall is my Pensieve.
